

UNUSUAL FLOODS IN FRANCE AND ON THE RHINE DO MUCH DAMAGE

Great automobile park of the American army near Coblenz inundated over night by a sudden rise in the Rhine. Thousands of cars of all types were wholly or partly submerged before they could be hauled to higher ground.

Photo International.

Above—The full force of the flood had not been reached in Paris when this photograph was taken, though the swollen Seine already had done much damage. The isolated derrick is used at normal stages of the river to unload barges.

Photo Underwood & Underwood.

At left—Another view of the swollen Seine at Paris, where immense damage already has been done and much more is feared, as the flood has not reached its crest.

Photo Underwood & Underwood.

At left—Latest photograph of the Baroness de Cartier de Marchienne, wife of the Belgian Minister to the United States. She was formerly Mrs. Hamilton Wilkes Cary, prominent in American society.

Copyright, Harris & Ewing.

Below—Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen and Lady Cunliffe-Owen, recent arrivals from Europe. It is the forty-sixth trip the British tobacco manufacturer has made to this country.

Copyright, Keystone View.

